

Past Progressive Tense	Prefixes	Determiners
Rewrite this sentence in the past progressive tense. Jacob played football in the garden. _____ _____ _____ 	Add root words to these prefixes to match the definitions. anti_____ : Moving in the opposite direction to the hands of a clock. inter_____ : Involving more than one country.	Underline the determiners in these sentences. My friend and I saw some penguins at the zoo. They were all extremely cute!
Spelling	Direct Speech	Homophones
Mr Whoops has scrambled two LKS2 spelling words. Help him unscramble them. nawsre _____ cclire _____ 	Rewrite this reported speech as correctly punctuated direct speech. Dad said we need to put our plates in the sink. _____ _____ _____	Circle the correct homophone in each underlined pair to complete the sentences below. We have groan / grown an enormous sunflower! I missed / mist the bus this morning. It was knot / not a good start to the day!

Past Progressive Tense	Prefixes	Determiners
Rewrite this sentence in the past progressive tense. Jacob played football in the garden. Jacob was playing football in the garden.	Add root words to these prefixes to match the definitions. anticlockwise: Moving in the opposite direction to the hands of a clock. international: Involving more than one country.	Underline the determiners in these sentences. My friend and I saw some penguins at the zoo. They were all extremely cute!
Spelling	Direct Speech	Homophones
Mr Whoops has scrambled two LKS2 spelling words. Help him unscramble them. nawsre answer cclire circle	Rewrite this reported speech as correctly punctuated direct speech. Dad said we need to put our plates in the sink. Accept any correctly punctuated direct speech with an appropriate reporting clause, e.g. "Put your plates in the sink," said Dad.	Circle the correct homophone in each underlined pair to complete the sentences below. We have groan / grown an enormous sunflower! I missed / mist the bus this morning. It was knot / not a good start to the day!