

Apostrophes	Fronted Adverbials	Pronouns
Circle the mistakes in this sentence. Explain why they are incorrect. The puppies' stared at their mothers' face. _____ _____ _____ 	Add a fronted adverbial to this sentence. The man felt dry and comfortable. _____ _____ _____ _____ 	Add a suitable pronoun to fill each gap. Ezra and Aisha were walking to school. _____ arrived just in time. Ezra waved goodbye to Aisha and _____ waved back.
Suffixes	Homophones	Determiners
Think of a word with the suffix -tion or -cian to match each definition. _____ : The act of celebrating an important day or event. _____ : A person who can do magic tricks.	Mr Whoops has jumbled up a pair of homophones. Unjumble the words. e p c a e _____ i e e c p _____ 	Add a suitable determiner to fill each gap. _____ orange contains lots of vitamin C and _____ banana contains lots of potassium. It is _____ excellent idea to eat _____ variety of foods.

Apostrophes	Fronted Adverbials	Pronouns
Circle the mistakes in this sentence. Explain why they are incorrect. The puppies' stared at their mothers' face. The word puppies is not possessive so it doesn't need an apostrophe (it is just plural). Mothers should have an apostrophe after mother as there is just one mother.	Add a fronted adverbial to this sentence. Accept any appropriate fronted adverbial followed by a comma, e.g. Under his umbrella, the man felt dry and comfortable.	Add a suitable pronoun to fill each gap. Ezra and Aisha were walking to school. They arrived just in time. Ezra waved goodbye to Aisha and she waved back.
Suffixes	Homophones	Determiners
Think of a word with the suffix -tion or -cian to match each definition. celebration: The act of celebrating an important day or event. magician: A person who can do magic tricks.	Mr Whoops has jumbled up a pair of homophones. Unjumble the words. e p c a e peace i e e c p piece	Add a suitable determiner to fill each gap. An/The orange contains lots of vitamin C and a/the banana contains lots of potassium. It is an excellent idea to eat a variety of foods.